

DARING HOLD-UP MEN THOUGHT VICTIM DEAD

Shot Grazed Cafe Proprietor's Temple and He Dropped to Floor.

NEAR MILLIONAIRE ROW

Fifth Avenue and 98th Street Scene of Attempted Robbery in True Wild West Style.

ESCAPED IN CENTRAL PARK.

Police Believe They Have Caught One of the Deperadoes—Harnett Saved Cash by Quick Wit.

Two highwaymen, armed with revolvers, invaded upon Fifth avenue last night and attempted a hold-up at the northern end of Millionaires' Row. James Harnett, the proprietor of a cafe at Ninety-eighth street and Fifth avenue, was the man picked out by the thieves as a victim. Only the nervousness of one of them, who discharged his revolver at Harnett before the money could be secured, frustrated the robbery. Edward Thompson, of No. 70 East One Hundred and Sixth street, was arrested in Harlem Court today, charged with being implicated in the crime, but Harnett could not identify him. Thompson, who had a big revolver in his pocket when arrested, was sent to Headquarters to be locked up by persons who have been held up recently in and around Central Park.

Harnett sent his employees home early last night, there being no business on account of the rain. He prepared to close the place at 12 o'clock, turning down all the lights but one over the cash register behind the bar and looking through all the doors but that at the side through which he intended to leave.

Faced Two Revolvers. He was counting the cash in the register when a noise in the saloon, and looking up he saw in the mirror two men entering the side door. They were in the shadow, but he could discern that each of the men carried two revolvers. One of them was so nervous he could scarcely stand. The other was cool.

"We don't want any trouble," said the collected burglar, "and neither do you. We've got you right, and the best thing you can do is to give up what you've got."

Just then one of the revolvers carried by the nervous man went off. The bullet grazed Harnett's right temple and lodged in the mirror. Harnett dropped behind the bar.

Thought Shot Was Fatal. "Duck!" shouted the thief who had kept his nerve. "You've killed him!" The two men ran into Ninety-eighth street. Harnett waited a minute and then followed. They were not in sight when he reached the street, but he heard sounds in Central Park that led him to believe they had jumped the wall and were making off through the trees. Every one in the neighborhood was alerted. Harnett looked the place and shot to the East One Hundred and Fourth street station, where he reported the attempted hold-up. Capt. Brennan put two detectives on the case and some hours later they arrested young Thompson.

CAUSE THEIR SON'S ARREST.

Parents Accuse Boy of Stealing Diamond Earrings.

"I love a young woman whom my parents are trying to prevent me from marrying, and that is the reason why I am arrested," said eighteen-year-old Harry Singer, of No. 279 Broome street, when he was arraigned in Essex Market Court today on the charge of stealing a pair of diamond earrings valued at $700 from his mother. She accused him of pawned the gems for $350 and produced the pawn ticket as evidence against him.

Singer admitted pawned the earrings, but said that his mother gave them to him to pawn for her and that he turned the proceeds over to his father. This was denied by both parents.

Young Singer was held in $1,000 bail for trial.

Philip T. Cronin's Successor.

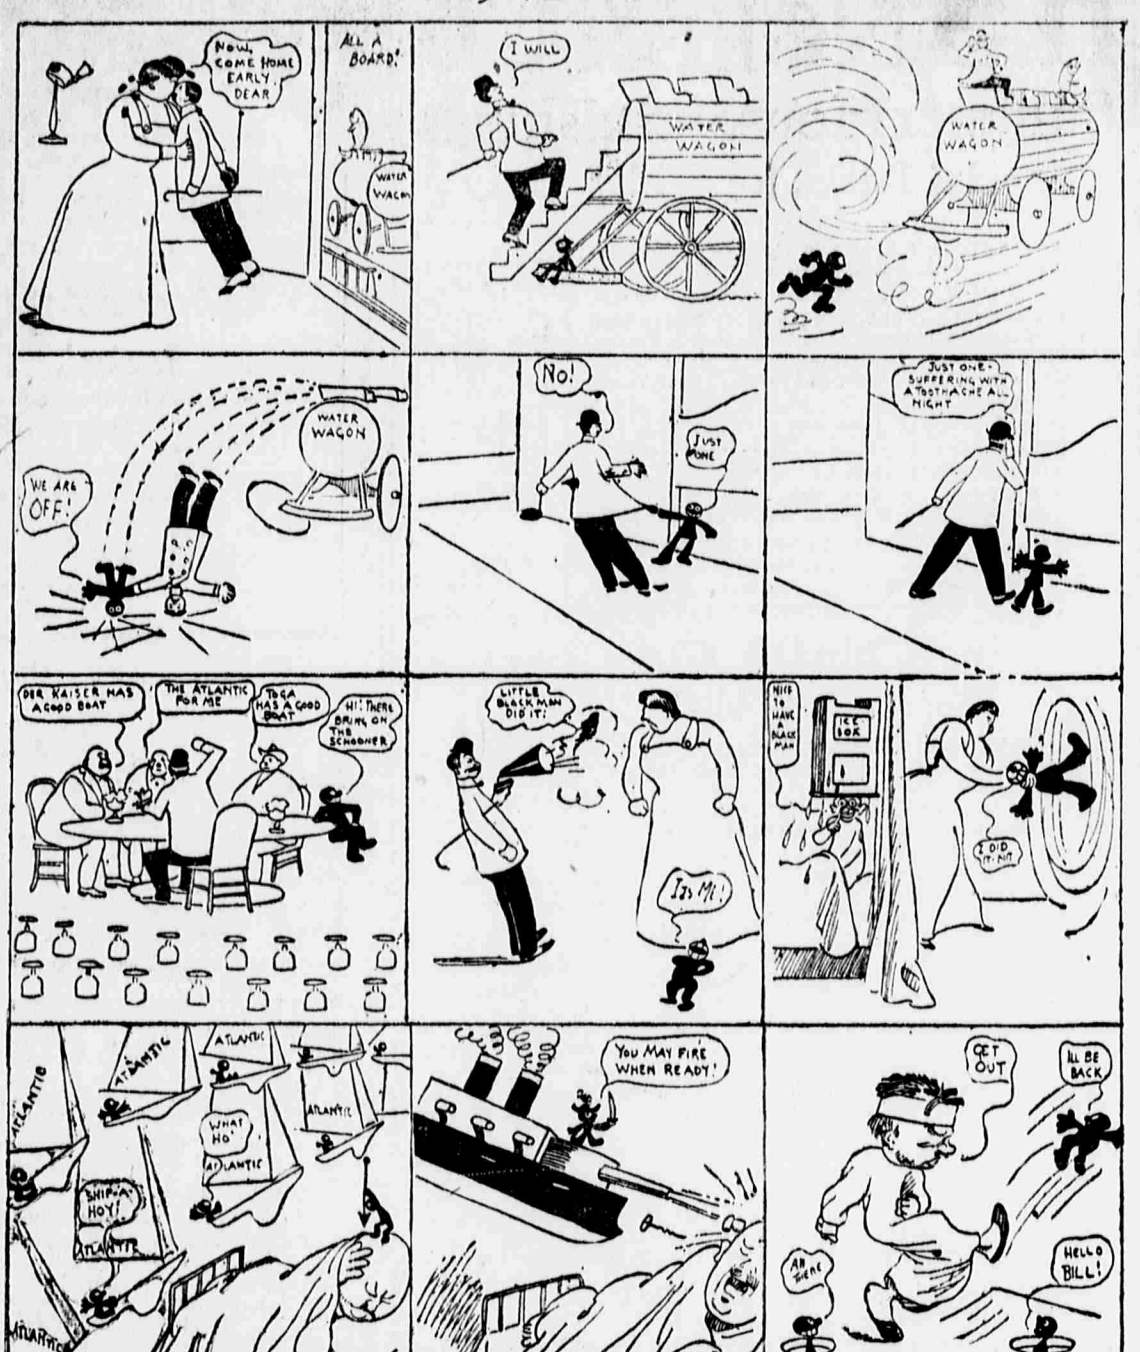

President Cassidy today appointed John T. Rogers, of Flushing, Superintendent of Public Buildings for the Borough of Queens, to succeed the late Philip T. Cronin. Before consolidation Mr. Rogers was for a number of years Overseer of the Poor in Queens.

ALL IN
So that You Can See Them.

2,557
Summer Resorts offered
Bathing, Fishing, Boating,
FRESH AIR AND LOTS OF IT
last month through Morning World's Want Directory.

IT'S GREAT TO HAVE A LITTLE BLACK MAN

By T. E. Louvers.

HER PET SEIZED BY DOG-CATCHERS

Mrs. Slate Attempts to Get Back Her Dog, and Then Complains to Police of Treatment She Received.

Mrs. Virginia B. Slate, of No. 2790 Broadway, visited the dog pound at East One Hundred and Second street, and East River this afternoon because the dog catchers had captured Mrs. Slate's brindle bull terrier Bertha. The indignant woman was repulsed by the attendants. She then sprang into her waiting carriage and drove hurriedly to the East One Hundred and Fourth street station. Rushing in she cried to Sgt. Powers, who was at the desk:

"Sergeant, I have been brutally mistreated by those ruffians at the pound. Early this afternoon I sent my maid out to give my dog Bertha an airing. While she reached the pound I was treated in the most discourteous manner."

dog catchers came along and seized my pet. My maid ran home to tell me, and I started out in pursuit just as even as I could call my carriage. When I reached the pound I was treated in the most discourteous manner."

The dog catchers came along and seized my pet. My maid ran home to tell me, and I started out in pursuit just as even as I could call my carriage. When I reached the pound I was treated in the most discourteous manner."

Two Died in Train Fire.

DAYTON, O., JUNE 1.—Pennsylvania passenger train No. 28, from St. Louis, struck an oil wagon at Fulton, Tenn., early today. As the oil tank burst the engine fire ignited the oil and Engineer Edward Glimby and Fireman Charles Pryor, of Columbus, were burned to death, the driver of the wagon escaping uninjured. The train was not damaged.

Mrs. Howe Stricken.

BOSTON, June 1.—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe has been compelled to cancel all of her engagements. She is very feeble, and grief over the recent death of Mrs. Mary A. L. Garrison, who was her friend, has further impaired her health.

Meets King Victor.

ROME, June 1.—King Victor Emmanuel yesterday received in private audience Senator A. O. Bacon, of Georgia, with whom he conversed most cordially, showing much knowledge of American affairs. The monarch said a President of the United States enjoys more power than a King of Italy.

Three Cases of Yellow Fever

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Gov. Magoon, of the Isthmian Canal Zone, today called the War Department that there were now three cases of yellow fever on the Isthmus, and that all were doing well. The last case is that of William J. Kennedy, an American, not an employee of the canal, who was taken ill May 28.

BOY SHERLOCK HOLMES SOON RUNS DOWN A YOUNG CROOK

Frank Maixner, Only Fourteen, Is Put on Trail of Persons Who Were Defrauding His Employer, and Quickly Causes the Arrest of One of Them.

Frank Maixner, of No. 1561 First avenue, is only fourteen years old, but he thinks he has a chance of having some things on Sherlock Holmes some day. This belief is shared by Anna Duffy, manager of the Madison Laundry, at No. 214 Seventh avenue, by whom Frank is employed as a delivery boy.

Miss Duffy has been annoyed of late by a couple of boys who have been collecting from her customers and pocketing the collections. She detailed young Maixner to find the thieves.

"Aha," said Frank, "to know where to collect they must know something about the business of the laundry. And to know the customers they must have worked here."

From Miss Duffy he secured the names of all the boys who have been employed in the laundry in the last two years. There were not many and he had no difficulty in locating them. Yesterday he saw Samuel Loeb, an ex-employee, and another boy going into the basement of a flat house at One Hundred and Thirty-first street and Seventh avenue by the rear entrance.

He sneaked in the front way and heard Loeb summon a customer of the laundry to the dumb waiter and collect from him. When the boy got to the street Maixner called a policeman who arrested Loeb. The other boy got away, but Loeb told his name and policemen are looking for him.

her and forced to go away without my pet. I told those brutes at the pound that I could call my carriage. When I reached the pound I was treated in the most discourteous manner."

Friend of Pensioners Dead.

LONDON, June 1.—Henry Charles Richards, Conservative Member of Parliament for East Finsbury, and well-known advocate of old age pensions, died here this morning of heart disease. He was born in 1831.

Officers' Conference Begins.

NEWPORT, JUNE 1.—The annual conference of officers at the Naval War College on Coaster Harbor Island began today and will continue until Oct. 1. The opening was without formal exercises. During the summer various tactical and strategic questions of importance will be discussed by the conference and the conclusions reached will be sent to the General Board for consideration and recommendation. Proceedings in international law established during the war between Japan and Russia will be given particular attention.

Despatches Stolen.

FEZ, Morocco, June 1.—Couriers between Tangier and Fez are repeatedly stopped and robbed. A courier taking despatches to General Lower, British Minister, who is now at Fez, was stopped, and the despatches were seized and destroyed.

Boycott Our Goods.

MANILA, June 1.—The Chinese Chamber of Commerce, by a unanimous vote, has decided to stand in line with the treaty ports of China in boycotting American merchandise in retaliation for the new exclusion treaty.

Pope's Wedding Present.

ROME, June 1.—The Pope has sent to Duchess Cecilia, of Mecklenburg-Schwerin as a wedding present a magnificent mosaic representing the transfiguration, accompanied by a letter of greeting. The Pontiff also sent a letter of felicitation to Emperor William.

Argentine Rebels Active.

BUENOS AYRES, ARGENTINA. JUNE 1.—It is reported that a revolutionary movement has been started in the Province of Santiago del Estero and that the Governor of the Province has been made a prisoner by the insurgents.

TOOK A ZIGZAG COURSE IN AUTO

Chauffeur William Lutigen Held in $500 Bond for Three Months on Account of Performance in Fifth Avenue.

William Lutigen, a chauffeur of No. 235 East Eighty-sixth street, was arraigned in the Yorkville Court today by Patrolman Quinn, of the traffic squad, who told an unusual story.

Quinn said he was at Fifth avenue and Sixty-first street yesterday afternoon when he saw Lutigen driving his machine, taking a zigzag course down the avenue at a rate of about fifteen miles an hour. At Sixty-second street, Quinn said, an elderly woman was leading two little children across the street when Lutigen started the machine from the left to the right, and chased them to the sidewalk. He then turned and chased some people to the left.

Quinn said he thought Lutigen was either intoxicated or insane, and shouted to him to stop, but he paid no attention. The patrolman, who was on horseback, was conducting a woman across the avenue at Sixty-first street. He declared that Lutigen turned the machine and dashed towards them. Quinn hurried the woman to the sidewalk, and then put after Lutigen, and with some other policemen finally succeeded in getting into the machine and arresting the driver.

Lutigen denied that he had run down any one or behaved in any but an orderly manner. Magistrate Barlow believed Quinn and held Lutigen in $500 for three months. He had no bondsman in court and was locked up.

Lutigen denied that he had run down any one or behaved in any but an orderly manner. Magistrate Barlow believed Quinn and held Lutigen in $500 for three months. He had no bondsman in court and was locked up.

FOURTH ARREST FOR MURDER

Louis Balletti Held in Connection with "East-Em-Up-Jack" Case.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

Louis Balletti, known in Chinatown as "Kid Blink" because of his defective left eye, the fourth of the prisoners arrested on the suspicion of being connected with the murder of "East-Em-Up-Jack" McManus on Thursday last, was today arraigned before Magistrate Finn in the Tombs Police Court. He was remanded to the Coroner's Corridor (Goldenskrantz) ordered Balletti committed to the House of Detention as a witness at the inquest in 9th hall, which was held on Thursday last, when he was furnished later by Thomas J. Foley, Tammany leader in the Second Assembly District, that his right-hand man, State Senator Reardon.

AUTOISTS NOT GENTLEMEN, SAYS JUDGE

"Once You Put Foot in a Car All Is Lost," a Scorching Is Told.

Magistrate Crane declared in the Harlem Police Court today that a gentleman was no longer a gentleman immediately he stepped into an automobile and took the machine in hand.

The Court pronounced this judicial epigram when Arthur Luria, a lawyer, of No. 120 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, was arraigned before him charged with running his car at the rate of thirty miles an hour. The charge was made by Policeman Wilhelm, of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station, who had arrested the lawyer on Washington Heights.

After the policeman had told of his motorcycle and how he determined that the car was being driven at the rate of thirty miles an hour, Magistrate Crane said to Luria:

"You are like all the rest of them. You are a refined, well-educated, cultured gentleman—when you are afoot. But when you get into a machine—here the Court threw up his hands in a gesture of mock despair—you are like all the rest of them. Once you put your foot in your car all is lost and you are a gentleman no longer."

The young lawyer fairly bristled with wrath and retorted:

"Your Honor, I am a gentleman all the time."

"No," responded Magistrate Crane, shaking his head sadly, "an auto makes a man forget his self-respect and everything. I will hold you in $200 bail for Special Sessions."

"But I want to be tried right away, in this court," cried the lawyer.

The Court leaned over the bench and replied with emphasis:

"Your Honor, I only wish I was able to try you here."

The prisoner offered cash bail, but this was refused. He was held in $200 bail and looked up until a bondsman could be found for him. He was so overcome with indignation that he would not discuss the case.

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS INAUGURATED IN ROME.

ROME, June 1.—This being Assumption Day and the day set for the inauguration of the Eucharistic Congress, the Pope with the usual pomp celebrated mass in St. Peter's. The Basilica was crowded, about 50,000 persons being present.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

The Papal procession included Archbishop Ruffini, of Philadelphia; Bishop Janssen, of Belleville, Ill.; Bishop Garver, of Altoona, Pa.; Bishop Scannell, of Omaha, Neb.; and Bishop Garrigan, of Sioux City, Ia.

PENTECOST'S COOK WORRIED THE 'COP'

Julia Murphy Bothered a Policeman So Much When He Was Helping a Horse that He Had to Arrest Her.

Julia Murphy, thirty-eight years old, a cook employed by Lawyer Hugh G. Pentecost, of No. 1730 Broadway, was a prisoner in Yorkville Police Court today on complaint of Patrolman Ryan, of the East Fifty-first Street Station, who accused her of interfering with him in the discharge of his duty.

Ryan said that the woman interfered offensively and refused to get out of his way when he was trying to raise a horse which fell last evening, at Fifty-ninth street and Third avenue.

The horse was attached to a soda-water wagon owned by Morris Smith, of 41 Monroe street. While Ryan, Smith and several citizens were trying to dislodge the animal from the harness and shafts so that it could rise a crowd gathered, in which was Miss Murphy. Ryan feared that the horse in its struggles would kick some of the spectators and ordered them to get out of the sidewalk out of danger.

All obeyed, Ryan says, except Miss Murphy, who insisted upon staying where she was at the horse's head. Ryan finally shoved her back to the sidewalk. In response to her message, she said she would stay there.

At this, he says, she threatened him with punishment by his superiors and demanded his number. He gave her his badge number, but she noticed his precinct number, 34, on his lapel and became suspicious that he was deceiving her and made a note of the precinct number, apparently believing that to be the right one.

The horse was found to be so badly hurt by its fall that Smith's owner, decided it had better be shot. Ryan went to a drug store on the corner to get a gun, but he was stopped by a policeman who told him to get out of the station. Ryan followed and tried to prevent him from accomplishing his purpose, continuing her threats to have the policeman "broken."

Ryan said that the woman was so obstinate that he had to arrest her. He took her to the station. There, according to Ryan, she threatened Sergeant Brennan with the telephone. Her employer went to the station and bailed her out.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.

Just before the woman said she meant no harm in interfering with Ryan, but thought he was interfering with her. She said she was of good character and was a widow. She had half a dozen witnesses to corroborate her story, and Magistrate Barlow set the woman under $200 bail to keep the peace for three months. Later he paroled her for that period in the custody of Alice Smith, the court probation officer.